Dear Maximus Gorky

Thank you for updating your abstract for the ICDE World Conference on Online Learning 2019. We are pleased to inform you that your resubmitted abstract has now been accepted for presentation at the ICDE World Conference. Details of your accepted paper(s) are shown below.

Guidelines for presentations will shortly be posted on the conference website and several webinars will be offered leading up to the event to provide tips and helpful suggestions. As soon as the detailed session programme is finalized you will be sent information about it.

Prior to the conference some of the best papers identified by the International Review Panel under each category will be shortlisted for best paper awards. The winning papers will be announced during the conference.

Important: For your abstract to be included in the programme, please register by Monday 1st July 2019 (early bird rate). Register by clicking here. Full conference details <https://wcol2019.ie/>. We have around 500 accepted papers and presenters not registered by this deadline may not have their Paper included in the official programme.

Contact Judy or Celia at abstracts@happeningconferences.com if you have any questions.

Remember to post a message to Twitter, Facebook and/or LinkedIn to let people know that your abstract is being presented at the ICDE World Conference. We suggest you include the conference Twitter hashtag (#WCOL2019) in your message along an image of Dublin and/or one of the photographs available from our website.

We look forward to seeing you in Dublin on 3-7 November!

Kind Regards
The Local Organising Committee
